

Cowboy Campsite

The whinny of the horses and nature's stillness all around Give a feeling of inner peace
That is so profound.

The mountains framing this lonely place
The sky above kissing the plateau where many found grace.

The whisper of the wind blowing through the surrounding trees
As you relate to God on bended knees.

Talking to God as you ride the trails in the woods so deep Being thankful of the blessings God gives each of us to keep.

For the horseman, women, guests and children who abide, ride and camp here what a beautiful place to experience The Holy Spirit who is always so near.

Written by: Karen Kachel
August 8, 2009